FIRST BANQUET OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GREAT SUCCESS

Able Speakers Make Splendid Addresses, full of Optimism and Sunshine

MUSIC WAS SPECIAL FEATURE

The first annual banquet of the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce is now a matter of history. All those who participated in it will have fond recollections of one of the city's greatest social events. The keynote from beginning to end was that of civic betterment and wholesome community life.

About three hundred people assembled at 6:30 p. m. in the corridor of the High School Building and a little later were ushered into the spacious gymnasium, where the tables were laden with the choicest "eats" such as only the women of a church can prepare. The boys and girls of the High School had beautifully decorated the gymnasium and the women had provided bouquets for the tables. Rev. John R. Burson offered the invocation. In the course of the evening it was very evident that a friendliness had grown up among those who were seated together and little group conversations were taking place all over the room. The orchestra played a number of beautiful selections and all engaged in singing "America" and the "Long, Long, Trail." After everyone had eaten to their heart's content of the Virginia Baked Ham, Bavarian Salad, Scalloped Corn, Apple Pie a la mode, and all the other good things, and had exhausted their fund of stories, they were in the mood to move to the auditorium above, where the real musical and mental treat began. Walter Byerly was the chairman and in the absence of the Hon. J. K. Tener, Attorney Roy I. Carson acted as toastmaster. The High School orchestra played a beautiful number which was the opening of the exercise in the auditorium, followed by Chester C. Humphreys who sang two classical tenor solos; after which toastmaster Carson, in well chosen words, introduced the Hon. William J. Fields, Congressman from Kentucky who spoke on "Community Development and Leadership." Mr. Fields talk was most appropriate to a Chamber of Commerce gathering as it had to do with community building. He spoke about the necessity of good roads and how the means of communicating will either aid or retard the growth of the community. He spoke of the importance of the public press, and how we ought to support our own local papers and put them in the hands of our young people rather than the great metropolitan dailies. Mr. Fields spoke in most glowing terms of the importance of the church and the contribution which it makes to community life. Ten years church attendance is equal to a good education. He felt that the Chamber of Commerce ought to always stand ready to help

DATE FIXED FOR HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

The sixth annual concert given by the Charleroi high school orchestra, will occur on Friday evening, April 29th, in the auditorium, under the direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel. This event is loked forward to, each year, by the friends and patrons of the orchestra and the program now being arranged by the director will prove entertaining and interesting.

FITTING MEMORIAL FOR DECEASED SOLDIER

Arrangements are being made to erect a memorial to Sergeant Wilbur Wise, son of Mrs. Mary J. Wise and the late Benamin E. Wise, late a member of Company A, Fifth Machine Gun Battalion, Second Division, in the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

The stone has already been prepared by the Crowley Monument works, and will be taken to the Scenery Hill cemetery some day this week, to be placed in position. The stone is being erected by Mrs. Mary J. Wise of 138 Fallowfield avenue, mother of the soldier, although the body of the soldier lies in a foreign land.

The inscription, in addition to giving name, rank and unit to which the deceased belonged, bears a gold plated bronze star, with the additional inscription, "In Our Country's Service," while below, engaved on the stone, is the further inscription, "Buried in Argonne Cemetery, France."

Mrs. Wise desires that the body of her son remain in France, amidst the scenes in which he fought, and where he lost his life, while the little marker in the cemetery at Scenery Hill will convey to friends and relatives at home the memory of one who gave his all that others might enjoy the blessings of freedom.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS AT CARNEGIE MUSEUM

The members of Sophomore B history class of the Charleroi High school having organized a history club, called the "Clionian," made a trip to the Carnegie Museum, Pittsburg, on Friday the 15th inst. to study the art of the ancient world. Miss Scott, the history teacher, accompanied them.

The class consisted of the following Alvera Chalfant, Beatrice Greenberg, Margaret Knight, Charles Hall, Jas. Ferguson, Foster Pyle, Edward Crum, James Meh. and Allen Brenton. The class left Charleroi on the 11:19 car and returned at 8:30 in the evening. The pupils spent a very enjoyable day in the museum, and learned much of the art and saw many interesting statues and paintings.

License Court Was of Very Brief Duration

Judges J. A. McIlvaine and Jas. I. Brownson, sitting in the annual license court held in Washington on Tuesday, ruled that the county court had no jurisdiction to grant a license to any brewery for the manufacture of beer for medicinal purposes, which beer would contain more than the one-half of one per cent of alcohol as provided in the Volstead act. The court held that this was a special privilege and was granted solely under the authority of the federal government. Under a recent ruling of the U. S. government beer, not near beer, is to be allowed to be manufactured for medicinal purposes and to be sold on prescription for such purposes.

The matter came before the court on the application of the Independent Brewing company of Pittsburg for a license to operate its plant in Charleroi. It had inserted a clause in its application which if the license were granted would permit the company to manufacture, under a county license, beer for medicinal purposes; that is, beer containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol.

When his attention was called to the clause by the court, D. M. McCloskey, attorney for the applicant, said the clause had been put in by the company at Pittsburg and he as counsel for the company was willing that it be struck from the application. This will have to be done if the license is granted.

License court was a very tame affair and was not in session over half an hour. The applicants for retail license were simply asked one question: "Have you sold during the past year liquors containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol?" They all answered "No."

Applicants from Charleroi were William H. Zellers, George L. West, George M. Fellows, Anthony Murphy, Godfred A. Artz, Joseph Prise and Andrew Chacko.

STIFF SENTENCES FOR LIQUOR DISPENSORS

In court at Washington on Monday Isaac Fenton, of that borough, who for several weeks conducted a notorious speakeasy in what was formerly the grill of the German Beneficial Union, building, entered a plea of guilty to selling liquor illegally. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $1,000 and to undergo imsentence of $300 and costs and three months. A parole was asked, but the court stated none would be granted until the matter had been investigated by the parole officer. A number of other dispensers of "hootch" of various kinds were also before court, who were given the minimum sentence of $00 and costs and three months in jail.

OPERATOR SHOT IN A PISTOL FIGHT

As the result of a running revolver fight with three armed negroes on the road between Elizabeth and "EG" tower of the Monongahela Division, P. R. R. above Clairton, Monday midnight, Harold Wallace, aged 22 of West Elizabeth, a telegraph operator, is at his home with a bullet in an arm.

Wallace, when halted, stepped behind a telegraph pole, drew a revolver and emptied it at his pursuers, stopping them for a time. He then broke from cover of the pole and ran to the tower, a short distance away. About midway between the pools and the tower he was struck by a bullet.

ANNOUNCE MATINEE FOR ELKS' MINSTRELS

Owing to the large demand for tickets for the Elks' minstrels, and particularly with a view of granting a privilege to children who wish to see the show, the committee in charge of arrangements has announced that a matinee performance will be given Wednesday afternoon, April 27, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. No seats will be reserved for this performance, the rule being "first come, first served." The price of the tickets for children will be 25 cents, while for adults it will be $1.00, but no war tax will be added to tickets for the grown people. The committee will take care of that phase of the admission.

Those who will be unable to attend the show during any of the evening performances will be thus given an opportunity to see it Wednesday afternoon, when the program will be identically the same as in the evening.

There remain a few seats in the balcony for each evening's performance, which those desiring to secure can purchase at the theatre on the nights of performance, or by having them reserved.

THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN

However long or short the time may be before the United States gives the Filipinos entire self-government or independence, or whatever else may be found best for them, the people of the Islands will never entertain any but the friendliest of feelings toward thns country. The Filipinos were formerly an oppressed people arbitrarily governed by a nation that took no interest in them except to exploit them. They were without hope. They were victims of insanitary conditions, and continuous poverty was their lot. The United States drove out the oppressor, established schools and hospitals, built highways and railroadss, promoted agriculture and other industries, prepared the people for a large measure of self-government and extended to them all the control over their own affairs that wisdom would justify. When the Filipino of this or succeeding generations looks back over the history of his native land, he will thank the United States for what it has done, even if there have been some defects in administration, for the condition of the people of the Islands has been infinitely better than it would have been if the government had yielded to those who wanted the Filipinos turned free to be the prey of selfish nations or the victims of their own internal dissensions.

A "DRY" TURKEY.

nearly thirteen centuries ago and the Koran still forbids strong drink, the outside world would have supposed that a prohibition law would be superfluous in Turkey. But it seems that the national assembly at Angora not long ago passed a law prohibiting the consumption of alcoholic beverages in Turkish territory. Concerning this law a magazine published in Switzerland by and for the Turkish Nationalists is thus quoted: "Naturally, all is not finished by voting a prohibition bill. The contraband is still carried on and the rich classes can in this way still procure drink. But it is, on the other hand, beyond doubt that the people in general do not poison themselves as before, because of the very great difficulty in finding spiritous liquors and the high price of this kind of drink. The number of the alcohol consumers has diminished in the proportion of more than 50 per cent."

Notwithstanding the fact that its prohibition law is supported by time-honored religious precept, it would appear that Turkey has an enforcement problem on its hands very similar to that of the United States. Apparently the Turks have been encouraged by prohibition in America to attempt to force their religion into practice through legal enactment, for the magazine quoted above says further that "tendencies for prohibition are showing themselves in Europe following the example of the 'dry' United States." It looks as if "dry" America—though not as "dry" as it might be within its own borders—is exerting a certain amount of influence in far lands.

A DEADLY APATHY

The Wall Street Journal says that many big corporations are stopping the practice of sending a copy of the annual report to every stockholder, most of whom throw them in the waste basket. One concern that sends a copy only to those stockholders who ask for it says that only about 5 per cent of them do a request. It is not a pleasing commentary on the business foresight of the average American to know that he cares nothing about what the men who have his money are doing with it.

A similar story might be written of Congress and the reports of its proceedings. The Senate and House when in session are engaged in framing laws that vitally affect the wealth, health and liberty of every citizen, yet the man who reads the Congressional Record is rare indeed. Instead, that publication is made the object of innumerable cheap jokes, all tending to cast ridicule upon our form of government and the legislators who make the laws in conformity therewith. Were it but realized, there is no more illuminating peridical in the United States than the Congressional Record. It contains the views of the leading men in every State in the Union. They discuss in its pages every conceivable subject dealing with American life, industries, products of the soil and mines, taxation, foreign relations, and the general welfare. It is important that stockholders should know about the affairs of the company of which they own a part, but it is infinitely more necessary that the citizen should have a familiar acquaintance with the men who make the Nation's laws.

"TOO MUCH WASHINGTON.

"Present railroad operating costs are too high," says Senator Cummins, whose name is hinged to the present transportation act. So Mr. Cummins of the Esch-Cummins act, wants an investigation by Congress to determine what is to be done about matters, in order that "the railroads may survive." Everyone, including the railroads, appear to be agreed that rates cannot be raised. The railroads consent to this because of the refusal of the public to pay the freight, or pay the fares. The nub of the problem in reducing operating costs of the railroads seems to center upon the question of reducing wages of railway employees. And something over two million men are hollering like Comanche Indians that "It can't be done." The railroad owners and the Brotherhoods rush to Washington on the slighrest excuse, apaprently unmindful of the fact that experience has shown that most of the evils of the railroad situation matters are due to "too much Washington."

Perhaps Dr. Simons now realizes that inquiry should precede assertion. When he recklessly declared that France is keeping her war wounds open in order to excite the world's sympathy he did not dream that the French government could show the expenditure of 35,000,000,000 francs to restore the devastated regions and report the return of more than 2,000,000 of the evicted population to their old home sites. Of all the German efforts to slip out of the payment of the reparation indemnity this is about the dirtiest.

A supposed authority is quoted as saying that "if the athletes now training for Yale teams could be fed on the proper legumes, there is no doubt that Yale would regain her athletic supremacy." If it is mere a matter of vegetables containing vitamines, why can not Yale men who beat them in football or the Philadelphers who beat them in rowing? It is more a matter of training and still more a matter of men, than of the vegetables that are eaten.

Perhaps Dr. Simons now realizes that inquiry should precede assertion. When he recklessly declared that France is keeping her war wounds open in order to excite the world's sympathy he did not dream that the French government could show the expenditure of 35,000,000,000 francs to restore the devastated regions and report the return of more than 2,000,000 of the evicted population to their old home sites. Of all the German efforts to slip out o fthe payment of the reparation

This is not the only country in which the railroads are giving the Covernment a great deal of trouble. Practically no country has escaped difficulties of this sort, and in the war-scarred ones such as France the conditions are much worsh than in the United States.

LINE OF LEAST RESISTANCE

Apparently Mr Lansing preferred to see 100,000,000 of his countrymen come beneath the yoke of the league of nations rather than experience the annoyance of an open r with his chief.

EXPECT GOOD YEAR FOR ROAD BUILDING

It is generally predicted that the present year will be featured by greater activity in the way of road building than ever before experienced in the State. Recent contracts let by the State Highway Department show that the cost per mile will be much less than formerly, which in itself will be a great stimulus to road work, while the labor market will provide plenty of men who desire this kind of employment.

In Washington county there is a great deal of this kind of work going on, both under the supervision of the State Highway Department and the county authorities. The recent awarding of a contract for a section of the Monongahela pike, work going forward on the Burgettstown-Hickory road, as well as the activity now under way on the Finleyville-Library road indicate that leading highways of the county are being taken care of. The difficulties which have heretofore held up the improvement of the Speers-Coal Centre road improvement are being overcome, and those closely in touch with the affair say that the road should be advertised some time in May. If this should be verified, it will mean that actual work should be placed under way on this important stretch of road some time during the early summer.

All of these projects were put forward by the Washington County Good Roads Association over two years ago, the funds for which were provided in the million dollar bond issue which followed that campaign. With another year the larger part of that program ought to be pretty well completed, while many additional miles are being taken care of by separate funds from both the county and the state.

THANKFUL HE WAS NOT A WOMAN

The late Lawson Tait, of England, the great woman's doctor, said he never went to bed at night without thanking heaven he was not born a woman. No doctor ever knew better than he what women have to suffer at some times of their lives. It was an American woman, long since passed to her reward, who introduced a combination of roots and herbs caalled Lyria E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that has proved wonderfully successful in mitigating suffering and relieving diseases of women. It has brought relief to thousands of women who suffered from female ills.

No rough roads in New Grant Six.

Judge and Mrs. Haldain E. Hughes of Washington were in Charleroi last night, and attended the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

FIRST BANQUET OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

the church and that much of the morale of any community is due to the religious life which has been diffused by the church into the community. He said no one would want to live or would care to own property in a community where there are no churches. The merchants and farmers were both discussed by Mr. iFelds and among other things he said that the people in any community would do well to buy all their goods locally rather than through the mail order catalogs, and that if people are buying from mail order houses in distant cities, the merchants ought to study the situation and find out why the people are buying elsewhere. It may be the fault of the merchant. Perhaps he does not handle the goods which the people want. In regard to the farmers Mr. Fields felt that the country is primary and the city secondary, and that at least 52 per cent of most of our people now live in cities. The suggestion made by Mr. Fields in regard to a welfare committee is one well taken, and it is very probable that the local Chamber will have such a committee in the near future. The public schools came in for its share of discussion, and the question of salary for teachers was very ably handled. Mr. Fields said that he lectured from the Canadian border to San Antonio, Texas; and from the Atlantic sea board to the foot of the Rocky mountains; and that in the course of his travels he found many places where the public guards in our prisons and penitentiaries were receiving more pay than public school teachers and also that most people were giving more attention to the breeding of cattle and horses and hogs than to the planning and rearing of children. He said in conclusion that this community must support the Chamber of Commerce in all its activities.

Miss Ethel Barth sang two soprano solos, after which Edward J. Cattell, of the Mayor's office of Philadelphia was introduced by the toastmaster. Mr. Cattell is a man of unusual appearance, with gray hair, slightly bald, gray mustache and an unusually intelligent face. He has lived more than three score and ten years, and has accumulated a good store of ripe experience from which he so ably discussed his topic, "Getting the Most Out of Life." Mr. Cattell more than lived up to his reputation as a humorist and at all times held his audience completely under he spell of his own personality. His talk alone was worth the price of admission to the entire banquet. He said two very important things which the local Chamber of Commerce would do well to heed. First: Do not try to do too many things. But rather concentrate upon a few things. Secondly, at the beginning of the work of anew Chamber of Commerce do a few things that can be easily and quickly done to show results and to get the organization into a working mood. His lecture was full of optimism and sunshine from beginning to end. Superintendent Pollock was so well pleased with Mr. Cattell's address that he asked him to speak to the High School students this morning.

The Amphion Male Quartet rendered two splendid numbers. Miss Bethel Bowman was the accompanist. Prof. Daniel deserves great praise for arranging the music for the occasion and also for taking care of the decorations in the gymnasium.

The program consisting of about four hours of feast and fun, entertainment and good will, was brought to a close by a selection rendered by the High School orchestra.

Those who have been most intimately associated with the preparation of this program are confident that this first annual banquet was a success, and that it has done much towards helping the community to see the necessity of supporting a civic-commercial organization, and that the Chamber of Commerce is a community building enterprise which every public-spirited citizen ought to support. This we hope is but the beginning of many successful annual banquets which this organization will hold.

ROADSTER STOLEN ON SUNDAY NIGHT

A Jordan "Playboy" roadster, owned by Walter Crow, who lives near the twin bridges on Maple creek, was stolen from his garage some time Sunday night, or early Monday morning. Up until the present time Mr. Crow has received no word as to the whereabouts of the machine.

He had only brought it home a few days ago from Pittsburg, where it had undergone a complete overhauling and was practically a new machine. The tank contained ten gallons of gasoline and this feature helped the thieves to make their getaway.

Machines owned by Frank Bly, Clint Couper, who live in the same neighborhood, were also tampered with the same night, but for some reason the thieves were not successful in getting them away. The Bly machine was found out in the road the next morning, with the battery exhausted.

Notices have been sent broadcast about the Jordan machine, and Mr. Crow hopes to receive some word as to its location.

FIELD'S MINSTRELS WILL BE CONTINUED

Under the will of the late Al. G. Field, filed for probate in Columbus, Ohio, April 9, the minstrel show of which he was so long the head will continue in the same high class plane that it has always operated. The show is left jointly to his brother Joe E. Hatfield and his nephew, Edward Conrod.

The bulk of the remainder of the estate, estimated at $200,000 goes to his widow for life, with the provision that she may dispose of any part of the estate at any time. A fund of $20,000 is set aside for the education of his three nephews.

EUCHRE AND DANCE A GREAT SUCCESS

The euchre and dance held at the Elks' Club, last night, under the auspices of a special committee of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, was well attended, and the occasion was a success both from a social and financial standpoint. The tables were all occupied during the euchre hour, while the dancing floor had its devotees all evening, and this phase of the entertainment was largely patronized when the card games were at an end. The returns will be very satisfactory to the committee.

A Glendale young man, whenever out of the city, instead of writing to his best girl, sends her every few days a box of candy. She is delighted with his plan and boasts of it to her girl friends, who straightway hint to their admirers to do the same.

One of the admirers went to the first-named young man on his return from one of these trips and made complaint of this habit of his. "The other girls are expecting us fellows to do it, too," he said. "We can't see why you do it. It's expensive and—"

"Yes," admitted the candy sender, "it is expensive, but it's mighty safe. Candy could never tell tales in a breach of promise suit."—Los Angeles Times.

The possibilities of cotton stalks as a source of paper have long been suspected and experiments in this direction have been made, but for one reason or another it has never proved quite practical.

The nearest approach to success has been made recently, and it is announced that there is a plant at Greenwood, Mass., where 50 tons of paper are made every day from three times that amount of stalk.

Certain thin tubular fiber in the plant will make excellent cellulose for durable papers. It is strong and flexible. If a quarter of the annual supply of the cotton stalks of the South were put to this use each year there would be no need of a paper shortage in this country.

The commonwealth of Australia has taken steps for the preservation of the aborigines of that country and has assigned a tract of public lands in the northern territories as reservation for the tribes. It includes the Mann and Peterson ranges and practically the whole of Lake Amadeus. The governments of South and Western Australia have set aside adjoining areas for the purpose of this reservation.

"Why do you doubt that my show will pack your insignificant town hall? It ran 300 times in New York."

"No offense, mister, and mebbe so. But she's got to be a purty good show to run one time yere."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
